

Canadian Women In Timber is a not for profit, charitable Society that is dedicated to informing the public regarding our forests and the forest industry by promoting Forest Awareness Through Education.

We encourage sound management and wise use of forest resources in Canada for the benefit of all, with a focus on public education through schools, community organizations and forestry-related forums. Our purpose is to enhance and foster public understanding of BC's forest resources and sustainable forest management.

Donations and Memberships allow us to continue our volunteer work with schools and communities, and to produce credible and informative educational material about our forests and forest industry.
